Oree is a ceramic wall clock inspired by the ancient craft of paper folding. Instead of intricate folds typical of traditional origami art, the clock face is defined by two subtle creases, marking the span of a single hour. The result is a shadow that changes intensity with the passing of time, when surrounding light hits the surface from different angles.

The painted ceramic expertly crafted in Nove, Italy, helps both achieving the subtle texture of colored paper and enhancing the depth of the folded shape. Manufactured in Italy.
